FILM AVAILABLE ON MANUAL COMMUNICATION

The Psychology Department has available a film, "Practice in Reading Manual Communication," to anyone who wants an opportunity to practice "reading" manual communication.

Many hearing adults who learn manual communication have difficulty in learning to read rapidly because, it is believed, they depend on seeing every letter and every sign instead of seeing larger units of meaning. It is hoped that this film will help the learner concern himself more with getting the meaning of the communication rather than a literal translation and, thereby, advance more rapidly.

A Super 8mm projector has been set up in the Psychology Lab, Room 270, Hall Memorial, and can be used by anyone who is interested in viewing the film. Howard Roy, Lillian Hamilton or Barbara Kannapell in Room 256A will be happy to assist you.

BISONS COMPLETE FOOTBALL SEASON

With the ball on the three inch line when the clock ran out, the Bisons lost their last game of the season Saturday to the American University Eagles by a score of 21 to 14. Originally, Gallaudet was to play its final game on November 13 against Jersey State College, a varsity team. Last week, though, the Athletic Department decided to cancel the game in view of the small size of our team, 18 men. Opening the season with only 28 players, the Bisons have really been hurt by injuries and finished the season with a 1-7 record and 18 healthy players.
